SEE

Sightseeing can be an expensive business, but not here in Copenhagen; they want you to see more but pay less.

HOW?

Buy a CPHCARD
Literally your ticket to Copenhagen. Offering free or discounted entry to at least 60 museums and attractions, as well as free transport by Metro, Train and Bus including travel to and from the airport!

SPEND

I'd go with a suite at the Hotel Skt. Petri | Krystalgade 22, 1172
The hotel is one of the nicest I've stayed at, and it's ideally located on Krystalgade Street – home to three of my favourite shops in Europe...

Henrik Vibskov | Krystalgade 6, 1172
His unconventional use of bold colours, graphics and silhouettes makes his clothing occupy both the realms of street wear and avant-garde fashion, and makes sure people are banging down the door of his store.

Wood Wood | Krystalgrade 4 & 7, 1172
The epitome of casual Copenhagen – this store boasts an impressive collection of designers alongside its own label. Also find collectible gadgets, sneakers, toys and magazines.

Paris Texas
Krystalgade 18-20, 1172
A multi-brand fashion store located in the heart of Copenhagen.

EAT

Danish style hotdogs
They're foot-long hot dogs with ketchup and some other various sauces with fried onions, pickled cucumber, and a sweet vinegary thing.

Turkish places in Vesterbro

Hereford Beefstouw | Vesterbrogade 3, 1620
I think it's a chain though, since the first time I came across it was at the airport in Hong Kong. It's just a simple steak kinda place, but done really well.

DRINK

Café Dyrehaven | Sønder Boulevard 72, DK 1720
My favourite cosy place to get a drink and a meal. It's a cosy café by day, but has DJs at night and well-prepared meals that are surprisingly sophisticated for pub-grub. Cool crowd too.
